

6 Tips to Choosing the Right Plan Manager

NDIS self-management and being NDIA managed provides some benefits, but it also means you need to manage the financial side of your plan budget and deal with the NDIA direct.

This can be very time consuming and for most people, stressful!

There is a better option - being Plan Managed!

Having a plan manager is a bit like having a personal bookkeeper. A financial expert who will take care of the money side of your NDIS plan, help you keep your budget on track and navigate the complex NDIS rules and coding.

Requesting to be plan managed makes perfect sense. You have all the benefits of self-management BUT you don't have the burden of financial administration, such as claiming from the NDIA portal or paying your providers invoices.

Aside from these key benefits, here is 6 great tips to help you choose the right Plan Manager for you.

- Look for an independent plan manager, someone that specialises in Plan Management – it's important to keep your finances separate from your support providers. Conflicts of interest can arise if you have the same organisation providing supports and handling your finances too.
- Ask if you will be provided with a dedicated Plan Manager – you want to talk to the same person all the time when you have a question.
- Ask if your Plan Manager will make regular contact with you – you want someone that offers same day or next business day response times.
- Enquire about real time access to your budget online - you want to be informed with how your plan is tracking 24/7.
- Check the turn-around time for your service providers to be paid – you want a plan manager who is efficient with payment times.
- Search for reviews – you want confirmation that your plan manager is an NDIS expert who will help you make informed decisions about your budget

Take your time – managing your NDIS plan budget can be stressful, and finding the right plan manager will reduce the overwhelm.
